

My family and I are faithful listeners to a station that provides its service via FM translators (KLOVE). This station provides a service that would not otherwise be available to us in our area. Not only is the station commercial free, but it also provides uplifting and encouraging programming. In addition, we are usually able to find the station on other translators when we travel. I urge you not to allow LPFM stations to take priority over FM translators.